

Information for California Residents—Global Privacy Statement

California Civil Code Sections 1798.115(c), 1798.130(a)(5)(c), and 1798.140 indicate that organizations should disclose whether certain categories of Personal Information are collected, “sold” or transferred for an organization’s “business purpose” (as those terms are defined under California law). Ceridian does not sell Personal Information. You can find a list of the categories of Personal Information that we collect and share below. Please note that because this list is comprehensive it refers to types of Personal Information that we collect and share about people other than yourself. If you would like more information concerning the categories of Personal Information (if any) we share with third parties or affiliates, please submit a written request to us using the information in the “How to Exercise Your Rights” or “How to Contact Ceridian” sections of the Global Privacy Statement. We do not discriminate against California residents who exercise any of their rights described in the Global Privacy Statement.
