

Taxable Benefits and Allowance Webinar with Ceridian and the Canadian Payroll Association

Overview:

As a payroll professional or business owner, you have a responsibility to follow government prescribed rules relating to the accurate assessment and reporting of taxable benefits. You must also communicate these rules, along with the associated risks of non-compliance, to various individuals within your organization.

While many taxable benefits are well-documented and explained in government publications, there are still many grey areas that require the attention of payroll. During this webinar, we will cover basic taxable benefits such as company paid benefits including RRSP and life insurance as well as the reporting requirements for the T4/RL-1 tax slips.
